(Continued) "I beg your pardon gentlemen," began Mr. Hazlehurst, solemnly, "but the right of reply at present rosts with myself. Moreover, if my ears did not deceive me, Mr. Coverdale has made an observation which I must call upon him either to explain or retract; but in the first place, let me express my surprise and regret, Sir," here he addressed himself pointedly to Harry, "that a young man in your position, a large landed proprietor, a lover of field sports, possessing a practical kn wledge of land, and a personal acquaintance with the habits and customs of the agricultural poor, the bone and sinews of our country, should thus turn against and betray the interests of the class to which he belongs, and league himself with those who would, in their shortsightedness, sap the vitals of that free and independent character which has made us the great na-tion which we are. With regard to the observation to which I alsuded, I believe, that having stigmatized the opinions I hold as a sacrifice of the greater to the less, you deliberately pronounced them ridiculous. Have I not repeated your words cor-rectly?"

"I certainly said that to sacrifice the greater number to the less would be ridiculous," returned Harry, completely taken aback at this sudden and unexpected accusation, "but I only meant-

"You meant what you said, I pre-sume?" interposed Mr. Hazlehurst, the magisterial tone of voice in which he was accustomed to crossexamine and he down upon equivocating poschers.

"Of course I did," returned Harry, his eyes flashing as he observed a sarcastic smile upon the face of Horace D'Almayne "I always mean Horace D'Almayne— a mways mean what I say, but my remark related solely to general principles, and had not the smallest reference to you, personally, Sir."

"Which is equivalent to saying, that I do not understand the common meaning of words, returned Mr. Hazlehurst in the same irritating tone of voice. "Really, Mr. Coverdale, your explanations do not tend to do away with the unfavorable impression your observation forced upon me."

'It is equivalent to nothing of the kind, sir, rejoined Harry, losing his temper; 'but if you choose to put a wrong construction upon everything I say, it is uscless for me to discuss the matter further with a man so-

At this critical moment, Tom Hazlohurst who had been listening with a countenance of blank dismay to the altereation between his father and his friend, contrived by accident or design to throw down and break a valuable china plate. This incident crea ed a diversion by calling forth an outburst of parental wrath; under cover whereof, Harry regained sufficient solf-control to enable him to suppress the word 'wrong-headed,' with which he had been on the point of concluding his sentence. At the same time Mr. Crane, having a mortal antiputhy to canything like quarrelling, which, as he said, produced 'an insalabrious' agitation of his nervous system,' or, in plain English, frightened him out of his wits suggested that they should join the ladies—which proposal led to a general move. Five minutes' reflection in an atmosphere less oppressive than that of the heated diningroom caused Harry to perceive that in having allowed himself to be provoked by the obstinacy of a pig-head-ed and slightly tipsy old gentleman into even a momentary forgetfulness of the respect due to Mr. Hazlehurst's years and position, he had acted wrongly and foolishly. It moreover. occurred to him now that it was too late to be of the slightest use, that, by this unfortunate disagramment he had completely neutralized any influence he might have possessed host, and thus, in fact, frustrated the whole purpose of his visit, by which means Arthur would be vexed, and the possibility of Alice's marriage with Mr. Crane rather increased than otherwise. Just as he was about to exchange the cool air of the garden (whither, on leaving the dining-room, he had betaken himself) for the less agreeable temperature of a crowned drawing-room, he was patted on the shoulder by one of his college acquaintance.

'Ah, Knighton, what is it, man? observed Harry, wishing his dear friend at Jericho. I took you for the stem of a tree, you stood so motion-

Frances Joseph Of Austria.—The Paris Correspondent of the London Post says that Francis Joseph, whose face and figure form a striking contrast to those of his august enemy, has just reached his 29th year. The calm and strict movality of the life which hie has led he's preserved his youth beyond the usual period, and he still tooks almost boyish. He is of middle height, very slim, and light in figure, of fair complexion and of the full features of the house of Austria. He wore a sky-hlue the house of Austria. Early in the morning, pilot boat Dragonet, which had been chartered for the occasion, went out and took her station as the outside clake-boat, 16 miles southerly from Bronton's fleef Light ship; and about half past nine o'clock, the schooner Arcola got under weigh a large number of hands employed in Pennsyl from the inner harbor and anchored west of vania, cutting logs and sawing them expressly Fort Adams, as the inner stake-bont.

About ten o'clock, the yachts of the squad ron commenced moving, and came out to the stake-boat in fine style, the Marragousett and Jacob Astor, as he left his native Germany, Ray, in particular, being complimented by the passed beneath a linder tree not far from the line that separated his native land to the fine that separated his native land. judges for their excellent managuvering. Following these were the 2d class sloops, as follows: The Plover at 11,17,47, the Escort at 11,23,12, the Undine at 11,23,35, and the Malboy at 11,30,55; the latter being about 11-2 minutes behind time, was ruled out by the indges, but proceeded. Of 1st class sloops none were entered. The rear was brought up by the lat class schooners of the squadron, passing the stake boat in the following order: The Madgie at 11,36,42, the Widgeon at 11,37,57, the rarorita at 11,38,48, and the Zingu at 11,44,57. Besides these were nearly all the remaining ressels of the squadron, which though not on tored for the Regatta, went out as spectators, the whole together making quite an imposing party of ladies and goldlemen or board.

Though the wind was quite light, the well trimmed sails of the symetrical crust compris-ing the ficet caught the breeze, and in a few minutes the last sail had disappeared behind the southern headlands of the island.

The attraction of the race and the stillness of the day, had entired large numbers out upon the water, and the outer and inner harbors were dotted with a variety of craft, from the stately pleasure boat to the diminutive dory; one little bark come alongside the stakeboat, " manned " wholly by ladies. Fort Adams and the adjacent lands also presented a fine appearance, where large numbers had collected, on fout and in carriages, to witness the sailing of the squadron. The Germanian Band were also at the Fort, its music floating across the water and mingling in awadest harmony with that of Dodworth's on board the Maria.

The men committing the assault belong to the yacht Julia. One man, who appeared to be a ringlender, was looked up by the police. Yesterday merning and offer of settlement for damages was made to Mr. Harrington, which we understand he declined.

The Mayor also had a "tussle" with two othor yacht sailors on the bill, the same evening, in which watchman sponeer was likewise on gaged, and in the course of which the Mayor obliged to draw his "six-shooter" in self defence, after which the two went quietly on board their vessel,

The schooner Luther S. Chase, of Fall River, Capt. Cha's Ricketson, arrived here from Fall River at 3 P. M., yesterday, with a party of gentlemen, who are on a pleasure trip and fishing excursion to Block Island and up the Sound. The company comprises the following persons: John T. Baylies, The's Almy, (of the Fall Rivor News,) Simeon Borden, Esq., Ruv. Cha's A. Snow, Daniel Stilwell, John H. Brow, Cha's A. Snow, Daniel Stilwell, John H. Brow, of longing, yearning for something, better undford D. Davol, Cha's A. Newell, N. B. nobler, holier than it knows now. Borden, Jr., of Fall River; Frederick a Barber, of Providence. The L. S. C. sailed again at i P. M., for Block Island.

THE YACHTS. The presence of the yachts in our harbor for two days past, has had an enlivening offect upon matters and things, and the gentlemen comprising the Club may be assured that their visit here has the present senson, as those previous; has been regarded by this community with feelings of satisfaction, and they will be sadly missed when they are ne. The booming of their guns at sunviso and spriset, and as vessels of the fleet went out and came in, the inspiring strains of their Band, and their own gentlemanly and courtoons demeanor during their star, will be something to talk about when they are gone.

New Extensaise. The cargo of lumber lischarged to Messra. Finch & Eogs from sloop Rienzi, was sawed expressly to their order in the heart and among the forests of Pennsylvania, and brought down to Elizabethport, N. J., from whence it was shipped to Newport as above. We understand Messre, F. &. E. have vania, cutting logs and sawing them expressly to their order:

from another, and made three resolutions, which he intended should guide him through life:—1. He would be honest; 2. He would be industrious; 3: He would never gamble. He was on foot; his wealth was in a small bundle that swung from the stick that laid on his shoulder. The world was before him. He was able to carry them out. His success is the best comment on his endurance.

Stephen Girard, at the age of 40 years, was in quite moderate circumstances, being the captain of a small consting vessel on the Delaware, and part owner of the same. No trait in his character was more marked than his conductors. than his endurance, and the elements gave him a fortune.

All men who have succeeded well in At men who have successed wen in life have been men of high resolve and endurance. The famed William Pitt, in early life was fond of gambling; the passion increased with years; he knew that he must at once master the passion; or the tored for the Regatta, want out as speciators, the whole together making quite an imposing show. The Muria, in particular, the Vice Commederer's yacht, a large-sloop of about 200 tons, with mast near undiships fore and aft and are more of cantrass, with the Band on board discoursing sweet music, and a large company of ladios and gentlemen, was truly a noble sight to look upon as she sweet genefully past the stake-boat. The Irens also had a native of ladios and gentlemen on board. to keep the faro bank,—he never saw it before; he was appalled at what he beheld. before; he was appalled at what he benefal. Sitting simid gaming, rain and despair, he took the resolution that he would never again enter a gaming house. He changed his company with the change of his conduct, and subsequently become one of the most distinguished Englishmen of his age.

Douglas in Indiana.—An influential Democratic paper printed at Fort Wayne, Indiana, (the Sentinel), publishes Senator Deuglas' recent letter, and says:

The position of Judge Douglas is the unly true one any Democrat could take, with the least hopes of success. The doctrine of strict non-intervention by Congress in the local affairs of the territories is now a part and parcet of the Democratic creed. a part and parcer of the Democratic creed, and any alternpt to repudiate it, or interpolate the monstrous hersey, demanded by a few hot-headed Southern agitators, that Congress has the right and ought to interfere for the protection of slavery in the territories, would result in the deletat and total destruction of the Democratic party in the free States. Brandreth's Pills have no Action save on Impurities,—Young people cannot, but middle aged and old people can, appreciate that medicine which being used in sickness, acts only upon the cause of the disease.—Around every organ affected, there the médicine penetrates, removing impurities, preventing all settling of the improvinto ulcers, swellings or tumors. In Heart Affections, in Epilepsy, in Pleurisy, in Sore Throats, and affections of the respiratory organ agenerally, in Dyspepsia, these wonderful Pills give immediate relief; and perseverence will be sure to ente. Maladfes which have been pronunced beyond the aid of human skill have here ourea by their use. And isthis so wonderful? Behold the reason! Brannath's Pills gurify the blood; they have no power except over impure humors, and these being removed, the disease is :emuved. Millions are deriving health from the use of this imponent medicine, which never weakens, but always strengthen; firstly, by taking out of the body these matters which hold, as it were, the life principle in custody: and secondly, by imparting a life giving property to the blood. NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The Royal Mail steamship Arabia arrived at Halifax on Tuesday aftern on. Her advires are in teresting, and in some respects important. The Zurich Conference had not yet met, but was expected to do so very soon. The Sardinian Plenipotentiary had reached Paris. The English Ministry had mounced their determination, to await the action of the Zurich Conference before deciding to accept an invitation to send a representative to a European Congress. The French Emperor had decided that the French Army and navy should be restored to the peace footing with the least possible delay. His intentions were generally regarded as sincerely pacific, even in England. The amountement in the Monitear of the professed reduction of the army createst excitement on the Paris Bourse, and the funds took are it mediate rise. Important speeches had been made in the British Parliament by Lacks. Bourse, and the funds took an 1 mediatories. Important speeches and been made in the British Parliament by Lords John Russell and Palmerston of European affairs. It was admitted by them that begland had acted as a medium for conveying terms from France to Austria, but it was contended that in doing so, she did not induce them. The debute on the subject of national defences had also been continued, the speeches on the Goyarment, side ex the speeches on the Government, side ex-hibited an intention to vigorously prosecute the work.

especially designed for the use of the Medical Profession and the Family, possesses those intrinsic medicinal properties (Tonic and Dirretie) which belong to an Old and PURE GIFT. The business of manufacturing specious gins, and offering them as beverages, under the titles, "Aromatic,"—",Cordial,"—"Medicated," etc., has become so common, that the public are justly suspicious of nearly everything that is offered under similar forms, and the trade has thus been brought into disrepute It has remained for our house (established in 1778) to supply the pressing popular need, and to inaugurate a new era in the history of the Trade. We trust that our established reputation - founded upon eighty years of experience - abundantly vindicates our claim to public confidence. A comparison of "Bininger's Old London Dock Glus" with others hearing shullar names, will catabilish its experiority, and make other Caution nanocostary.
